This weekend my family and I went to camp in the bush. We were staying near a river and suddenly it began to rain. Our clothes started to feel damp so we had to hang it in the sun to get dry.

At the camp site I picked up a five rand coin and bought myself an ice cream. It was so hot that my ice cream started to melt and then I saw an ant eating my melted ice cream.

That evening a rock and roll band were playing music for all the people staying at the camp site. We had to pay two hundred rand to watch the band play their music.

The Sunday morning, we had to pack up camp very early. I was very sad to go home and took one last photo of the camp site so that I could always remember the fun time we had.
