

"She's going to win," said Sammy.
 "Don't say that! We are just as good as she is!" answered Solomzi and Simon.
 Then Sally had an accident. One of her rollerblades broke!
 "Oh no!" she said. "What am I going to do? I can't enter the competition now."

The boys had a good idea.
 "You can have our special rollerblades!" they said. "We don't need them, and you do!"
 And they all took part in the competition.
 Afterwards they waited to hear who the winner was.

It was Sally, on the special rollerblades!
 "Hooray!" shouted the three friends.
 Sally wanted to give the rollerblades back, but the friends said "No, you keep them!"
